There may be additional items which have been detailed (included and excluded) EPRA's Clarification Listings. This listing can be found at: <http://epra.ca/what-is-a-steward/product-definitions-fees-clarification-protocols>

This technical listing may not encompass all products that are detailed in the "regulation" or those that are handled by EPRA-BC. Please refer to the BC Government Recycling Regulation for further details.

Electronic medical equipment for monitoring or treatment is acceptable with the exception of devices that have been implanted or exposed to infectious bodily fluids. Return-It Collection Sites are not obligated to accept any equipment they feel is unsafe to handle.

Electronic Toys are defined as a plaything placed on the market that uses a cable, plug or batteries to provide power.

NOTES:

1. Products included / excluded are examples based upon member inquiries but do not represent an exhaustive list of all obligated products by category. Members must assess products against the definitions of each obligated product category to determine the applicability and appropriate EHF, and may consult the program for assistance in clarification where required.
2. Products identified as 'Included in the Obligated Category' are subject to the EHF for that category; Products identified as 'Not Included in the Obligated Category' are not subject to the EHF for that category, however, members must consider all obligated product categories to determine if the product meets the definition of another obligated product category.
3. There are two instances where multiple obligated products may be packaged by the original equipment manufacturer (OEM) in a single physical package carrying a single SKU (stock-keeping unit) and be subject to one EHF for the entire package of products:
 - a. Where the product definition above specifically includes multiple obligated products, or
 - b. Where a product is comprised of different functional components that are sometimes sold separately, but in this case are integrated into a single operating unit. In this instance the integrated product carries the single highest EHF. Examples include:
 - Phase I
 - All-in-One computer system (desktop CPU with integrated display device)
 - Display device with integrated video player (DVD, VCR, Blu-ray, etc.)
 - Printer / Scanner / Fax (all-in-ones)
 - Phase II
 - Multiple drive players integrated into a single device – e.g. DVD & VCR player
 - Fax machine with a corded telephone handset
 - Telephone with built-in answering machine
 - Security display monitor with built-in digital video recorder (DVR)
4. The list of Product Definitions and Clarifications may be revised periodically by the Program.
5. A product is excluded from any category if it weighs >200kg, is professionally installed, or cannot readily and safely be de-installed, transported and/or recycled. Electronic Toy products weighing in excess of 50kgs are also excluded.
6. A product is excluded from any category if it has been implanted in a person, if it is surgically invasive or is inserted into a patient's body, if it requires decontamination prior to recycling, or if it has come into contact with blood or other biological contaminants prior to end-of-life.
7. Floor-standing equipment should only include equipment which is integrated, and which cannot easily be broken down by the end-user for recycling (e.g. a mainframe). Floor-standing equipment is not considered one unit under the program if the equipment is comprised of easily-removable sub-components. If the latter is the case, the rack or frame containing the equipment is excluded and the individual sub-components are covered in categories above as individual/multiple units.
